FALL 1960 to SPRING 1961

TO OUR CUSTOMERS:

We are pleased and proud to be chosen as an American Representative of the famous LUDWIG AMARYLLIS firm of Holland. This company is world-famous, as they have been one of the top amaryllis hybridizers for over 25 years.

NAMED VARIETIES. We handle mostly named varieties which are propagated vegetatively with time and care so that they will be true to name.

GROWING INSTRUCTIONS. Although growing instructions are included in this booklet, we will send additional instructions called "SUCCESS WITH AMARYLLIS" with each order. We recommend the book called "AMARYLLIS . . and how to grow them" by Peggie Schulz which we sell for $2.95 a copy.

PRICES. It is impossible to propagate these magnificent named varieties of amaryllis and retail them as first-class bulbs at "bargain prices".

DELIVERY. Due to the late maturing of bulbs for maximum growth, first-class amaryllis bulbs cannot be shipped until late October or November. Although we have a stock of most of the varieties listed ready to ship, a few are in very short supply and will be supplemented by shipments arriving from the originators in Holland. Order immediately to be sure to get what you want. We are usually able to supply most of the varieties until late winter.

GIFT SUGGESTIONS. These choice amaryllis make excellent gifts for special events. They can be shipped out during all but the most severe weather. They are especially fine for Christmas gifts, if we receive your order early enough.

FLOWERING. Follow instructions carefully, holding off much water until really active growth begins after the bulbs have been planted. Bulbs usually flower in from 6 to 8 weeks after planting. The LUDWIG strain is famous for its elegance, refinement and delicacy of coloring as well as large size and heavy petal texture. The wonderful new pink varieties are especially outstanding.

NOTICE. Do not send order to Holland. No C.O.D. orders accepted. Please use enclosed order blank, and order as early as possible.

Amaryllis lovers

Here is the 10th edition of our Illustrated Special Amaryllis Catalog, which is a Jubilee-Edition, so that we have used our best endeavors to make it as attractive and instructive as possible, in which we hope to have been successful.

There are several things that will strike you in the new edition. First of all there are seven novelties, two of which have not been named by our customers. This is because we had already exhibited the novelties in question (BELLA VISTA and FLORA QUEEN) at various competitive flower shows in previous seasons, so that we could not very well change their names, which would have led to confusion.

The other novelties were named by:

- SYMPHONY by 1. Mrs. D. E. Beek, 320 Cole St., CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas, U.S.A.
2. Mr. C. L. Rearick, 404 E. Christiana St., MARTINSBURG, Pa., U.S.A.
3. Mrs. Th. J. Peterson, Rt. 1, Box 412, WAUPACA, Wis., U.S.A.

WHITE FAVORITE by Mrs. Svella Roth, 2015 Stelzer Rd., COLUMBUS, Ohio, U.S.A.

PAMELA & PIXIE by Mrs. M. S. Anthes, 123 Grandview St., ENCINITAS, Calif., U.S.A.

- VOODOO by 1. Miss Grace McGee, 768 W 20th, COSTA MESA, Calif., U.S.A.
2. Mrs. M. S. Anthes, 123 Grandview St., ENCINITAS, Calif., U.S.A.

We congratulate the six winners of the naming contest on their success and it goes without saying that they will have their self-named Amaryllis Clones gratuitously in the course of this season.

Furthermore there are ten new colored illustrations, for however minute our color descriptions may be, we are sure that they are not always too clear to our customers, and though colored pictures can (fortunately enough) never replace the excellent flowers in all their beauty, they are likely to give a better idea of what the flowers look like.

We may mention in this connection that the colors as described in this catalog have again been ascertained with the aid of the Horticultural Color Charts, issued by the British Color Council in collaboration with the Royal Horticultural Society, Vincent Square, WESTMINSTER, LONDON S.W. 1, England, where the two volumes are to be had at £ 5.— or abt. $ 15.— exclusive of postage.

Then we have entirely changed our planting scheme; by planting our Amaryllis Clones two months earlier and lifting them one month earlier, the size of the clones will even be better, if possible, whereas the new system enables us to despatch the first pool shipments, respectively to NEW YORK and to NEW ORLEANS by the MIDDLE OF OCTOBER. This means that the early flowering varieties may be in full bloom towards Christmas and New Year, when potted or planted at once on arrival.

The second pool shipments will be made by the middle of November, the Third in the course of January 1961 and if our stocks have not yet given out by that time, the last pool shipment will be despatched in February 1961, but we kindly but urgently request all our customers to PASS US THEIR PROSPECTIVE AMARYLLIS ORDERS AT THEIR EARLIEST CONVENIENCE SO AS TO AVOID DISAPPOINTMENTS.

For the convenience of those customers that intend to take part in local shows, we have mentioned the registration numbers of all our named Amaryllis Clones, whereas we have also stated what time our varieties take to come into full bloom, viz.

early (time from potting to flowering 38/42 days, i.e. 6 weeks)

half-late (" " " " " 42/47 days, i.e. 6/7 weeks)

late (" " " " " 50/54 days, i.e. 7/8 weeks)

very late (they take at least 55 to 60 days to come into full bloom, i.e. 8/9 weeks).

Of course, the number of days is always slightly variable, depending upon the season, temperature in transit and local conditions at your end, but with some timing and raising and lowering the temperature you will manage to have your Amaryllis Clones in full bloom for a certain date or show.

Generally speaking prices have been slightly decreased, as our stocks of named Amaryllis Clones have constantly increased. For the slow propagators such as Ludwig's Scarlet, Peacefulness, Salmon Joy and Shakespeare we have somewhat raised the prices to compensate us for the extra work and expense.

Amaryllis news could not be published, as we had to start working on the new Amaryllis Catalog, before the results of the Amaryllis Shows, especially in the U.S.A. were known. That's why we have to restrict ourselves to mentioning that we had a named Amaryllis stand at the Rotterdam International Flower Exhibition, called „Floride“ from March 25th till April 4th last, to which the judging committee awarded a first prize, viz. a big gold medal.

In completing the enclosed order blank, please, make up your mind whether we are to send you the Amaryllis varieties via New York or New Orleans. For completeness' sake we may once more stress that all our prices are to be understood for delivery „Free to Door“, i.e. including all charges. Import permits and tags will therefore be superfluous.

The same holds good for our CANADIAN customers, who are kindly requested to send their order to:

V.T.H. CANADA LTD.

235 Hammersmith Court

BURLINGTON, Ontario (Phone: Nelson 7—1846)

which Canadian Branch establishment will have the disposal of a moderate stock of named varieties during the shipping season, i.e. from November till April and from which you may obtain your Amaryllis Cash on Delivery.

All our Amaryllis pool shipments have been fully insured against all risks, so in case anything should unexpectedly happen to your Amaryllis consignment or parcel in transit, please, let us know at once on arrival of the Amaryllis, so that you will be fully indemnified for any loss.

You may rest assured, however, that we shall pack our first class clones most adequately, expediting delivery as much as possible, so as to do justice to the high quality of our named Amaryllis varieties, ensuring your success in this way.

HILLEGOM, July 1960

American Express (early)

421

Oriental red (somewhat lighter than 819) fine even color with slightly lighter red stamens. The throat is dark red with a violet red reflection. A robust Amaryllis with much flare.

2-3 Scares, 26-28" tall, each with 4 large, open, eight to eight-and-a-half inch blooms. A fast grower, coming easily in full bloom. We specially recommend this variety as it should have its place in every Amaryllis collection.

Apple-Blossom (early)

422

White with Dawn Pink (523).

The lower petals are of a lighter color shade, almost white with a dash of Dawn Pink. The stamens are white and the throat is faintly greenish with a dark red ring.

2 Scares, each with 4-5 eight inch blooms of a fine, flat shape, all of which flowering almost simultaneously, suggestive of the abundant wealth of flowers of the blooming appletrees.

Attraction (half late)

457

A particularly fine variety with a peculiar Capsicum Red Color (715) and an elegant shape.

The throat is dark and glossy with a perfect depth.

2-3 Scares, 28-30" tall, each with 4 seven-and-a-half inch blooms, their petals standing loosely, but yet elegantly and gracefully on their stems. A superior Amaryllis, strong and manly, and yet elegant at the same time.

Bella Vista (half late)

555

This welcome addition to our named Amaryllis collection is of a cherry red (722/722/1) color with a dark red throat.

Its shapely round flowers have a diameter of abt 7/8", whereas the petals are 2/2½" long.

There are two scapes of 20/22", each bearing four elegant flowers. The variety is called after the villa, in which our proprietress, Mrs. C. S. van Til-Zijlstra, lives at Hillegom.

Blazing Star (late)

463

This novelty, which we offer this year for the third time, is of a very particular self color, viz. a dark vermilion red (slightly darker than Dutch vermilion No. 717) with a dark glossy throat.

Its blooms are large (nearly 10" diameter), round, and rather flat, the calyxes being abt. 4" tall.

Generally there are two scapes, 20-22" tall, each bearing four blooms.

We wish to bring the variety to your special notice, as it is a valuable access to your Amaryllis collection.

Bridesmaid (half late)

423

A very good, pure white variety with a light green tinge in the throat. 2 Scapes, 22-24" tall, one blooming after the other, with 3-4 seven-and-a-half inch, somewhat fringed blooms. A very attractive potflower, which has always been in brisk demand.

Bouquet (late)

424

A variety of a very peculiar salmon color and a particular charm. The colorshade is a begonia pink (619) with a dark throat matching with Empire rose (0612). The throat is a dark glowing color, beyond which the color is a shade lighter viz. Empire rose (0621), the stamens of the same colorshade (0621) being particularly effectual. 2-3 Scapes, 25-28" tall, each with 4 eight-and-a-half to nine inch blooms of a flat and flawless shape, standing gracefully on their stems.

Brilliant (early)

Vivid signalred (darker than 719) with dark red, glossy, rather deep throat.

The trumpetshaped blooms are pretty large viz. 4½ inches diameter. 4 Eight-and-a-half inch blooms to each of the two scapes, which are 23-25" tall.

An extremely fine variety of a fascinating color shade, which is an extraordinarily early and easy forcer.

One of its characteristics is that it has already foliage during its florescence, which makes it a very attractive potplant.

Candy Cane (half late)

426

A magnificent, two-colored Amaryllis, alternatively red and white in the right proportions. All petals are white edged, a white streak springing from the throat. Between the edge and the streak the color is a bright capsicum red, which makes it a jolly flower setting the heart of any Amaryllis Lover singing.

The stamens are pure white, the petals broad and flat, making for strong and compact flowers of 8-9" diameter, borne by two scapes 26-28" tall.

Cardinal (early)

464

We offer this Amaryllis Novelty for the 2nd season. It is a dark oxenblood red (820) with a very dark currant red throat.

There are four blooms of 8" diameter to each of the two scapes, which are 22-24" tall.

Cardinal is very likely to be a variety that is to conquer the hearts of all genuine Amaryllis-lovers.

Limited stock

Champion's Reward (early)

427

Vivid oriental-red (819) with a deep glossy throat. A particularly fine flower shape, rather round, and recurvate petals.

The backs of the petals are also gorgeously colored.

Two scapes, 26-28" tall, with each four large, open, nine inch blooms. A specially decorative plant and so far one of the bestsellers.

Christmas Gift (very late)

539

A superb novelty of a pure white color shade with a soft green throat.

It excels in growing fast and robust and developing nicely open and large flowers and in having an elegant and loose flowershape.

2 Scapes, 23" tall, each with 4 eight-to-nine inch blooms, the depth of the calyxes being 3½".

The name suggests that it would do as a fine Christmas present, but it does not mean that it will be in full bloom at Christmas, for it is a late-flowering variety, for which reason it will be highly appreciated, as it will keep an Amaryllis lover's collection of all color-shades complete, when all other pure white varieties have done flowering.

Circus (half late)

This red, white-striped variety has the same characteristics as Candy Cane, but is of a darker color shade, and a very strong propagator.

The white stripes stand out better against the garish red, whereas the white edge round all petals is the gay note in this marked variety.

2 Scares bear each 4 eight-to-nine inch blooms, which are fairly round and nicely open.

It is a strong grower, which has generally already developed leaves during floescence, and is an eye-catcher in an Amayllis-lover's collection.

Daintiness (half late)

428

A very fine porcelain rose (620) with a crimson rose glow towards the centre (22/2). The throat is veined with a soft green, the stamens being again porcelain rose (620).

2 Scares, each with 4 blooms. A very promising variety.

Delilah (half late)

429

A particularly fine Begonia-pink salmon color (619) with a darker throat shading into red.

The lighter colored petal edges make for transparent, glossy blooms, which are of a nicely rounded shape.

2 Scares, 25" tall, bear each four 8" blooms.

A peculiar color, which the Amayllis-lover is likely to call salmon-pink, and which is specially attractive.

Diamond (half late)

A particularly fine geranium-lake red color (20) with a dark purple red throat.

The inner petals are slightly fringed and bearded.

Two robust scares, 25" tall, with each four, large, open nine inch blooms. A peculiar color and a very free-flowering potplant.

Doris Lilian (half late)

431

This variety, which is highly appreciated by most possessors, may safely head the list of our varieties, for it is peerless in its special Carmine Rose (21) color. The lower petals are somewhat lighter (21/1), and the petals end also in this lighter color shade.

The throat is a dark glossy carmine red. 2-3 Scares, 26-28" tall, each with 4 seven to seven-and-a-half inch blooms of a fine, flat shape.

Fantasy (half late)

432

A very outstanding variety, which is hard to describe. The dominating color is Delft rose (020) with a faint light rose stripe on each petal, the tips of the petals being almost white to very light rose, rendering the shapely flowers very effectual. Further towards the centre the stripes change into soft applegreen, and deep in the throat there is a faint red ring, the stamens being white.

The 4 seven to seven-and-a-half inch blooms stand gracefully on the slender stems. There are generally 2 scapes, 24-26" tall, to a bulb. The variety appeals to any Amaryllis-fan and is a very good seller.

Fire Dance (late)

465

A superb novelty, which is listed for the third time this season. Its color is a gorgeous Dutch vermilion (approximately 717) with dark violet red in the throat.

All the broad and flat petals are of a self-color and recurve symmetrically, so that the well-closed flowers lend it an air of strength and volume.

Its blooms are nearly 10" diameter, whereas the calyxes are only abt 3" tall, so that they are rather flat.

2 Scapes, 24" tall, bear each four very shapely blooms.

A variety that we specially recommend, as it is bound to be an enormous success.

Limited stock

Five Star General (very late)

434

A very special variety, which is, however, the last to bloom in our collection of named Amaryllis.

The 9-10" blooms are of a gorgeous signalred (719) color with a white star in the centre, which white star shades with red streaks into full red towards the outer petals.

The edges of the petals are slightly suffused with red streaks. In the throat there is a dark red ring and the upper petals are slightly bearded.

Generally there are two scapes, abt. 30" tall, with each four large blooms. The treatment of this variety, however, requires somewhat more care. The main thing that matters is the temperature, viz. preferably 70 to 75 degrees Fahrenheit.

As this variety is rather slow in coming into full bloom, it is advisable not to give it too much water, as otherwise the roots will start rotting.

The long period of waiting for its blooms will be amply rewarded on seeing this wonderful Amaryllis variety.

Franklin Roosevelt (early)

433

Currant red (821), the upper petals having a bloodred reflection, the lower petals being of a somewhat lighter colorshade; a faint streak in the centre of the petals; very dark red in the throat; bloodred stamens.

2 Scapes, 25" tall, each with 4 seven to seven-and-a-half inch blooms. The color is unique and the darkest red of all our Amaryllis.

Flora Queen (half late)

Of this superb novelty there was first question at the 1953 Heemstede Flora Show, where it focussed the attention of all Amaryllis-minded visitors. Unfortunately we could not list it until this season, as the stocks were really too small, and even now we shall only manage to send a hundred customers one or two clones.

Its color is a Spinel Pink (0625) with darker veins, especially in the throat. The shape of the flowers is really ideal, viz. perfectly flat.

Two scapes, 24-26" tall, bear each four 8" flowers.

This Amaryllis Queen needs hardly any recommendation.

Halley (half late)

435

Lively poppy red (16) (orangered) with darker stamens and a very dark throat. All the petals are veined with a dark shade, imparting a special glow to the whole.

2-3 Scapes, 20-24" tall, each with 4 rather flat and beautifully round, eight inch blooms.

Invincible (early)

437

This shapely semi-trumpet Amaryllis is a fine Capsicum red (715) with a dark red throat.

2 Scapes, 24-28", gracefully bear 4 eight inch blooms each, which sometimes flower all at the same time.

An excellent variety, that will find its way to Amaryllis-lovers.

La Forest Morton (half late)

390

The novelty has a particularly nice color, which has not been seen in Amaryllis so far.

According to the Royal Horticultural Color Charts its color shade is Claret Rose (021); lively salmon rose would reflect our own impression.

The lower part of the petals is of a slightly lighter color shade. The dark rosy red throat hits off the desirable tone to perfect the combination to the eye, whereas the rosy red shade of the stamens once more stresses its perfection.

The shape of the petals is ideal, not too round, but elegant and somewhat stylish, which is accentuated by the slightly uplifted four flawless blooms.

The diameter of the flowers is 8 to 9", whereas the depth of the throat is abt. 3".

The novelty produces two flowerscapes, which are rather tall. Therefor it is recommendable to grow the variety in broad daylight to prevent the scapes from getting too tall.

Liberty Hyde Bailey (half late)

466

This new variety is one of the best red-colored novelties. The fantastic clear oriental red color shade (almost 819) is so glowing and striking that the variety is likely to be the eye-catcher in your Amaryllis-collection.

The self-colored blooms are nicely shaped, the broad petals lending them a robust and well-closed shape.

2 Scapes, 24-26" tall, bear each 4 eight-to-nine inch blooms.

Love's Desire (early)

438

Coral Pink (0619) is the color of this refined Amaryllis variety. The color of the outer petals matches most with porcelain-rose (620), whereas a white, but incomplete streak is highly suggestive of ease and looseness.

This variety focussed the attention of the public at the 1954 Amstellora, and the judging committee spoke highly of this excellent Amaryllis novelty, providing it with an award of merit.

Two scapes, 24-26" tall, bear each four blooms of 8½-9" diameter.

Ludwig's Ace (half late)

540

An imposing "Ace" with an exceptionally gorgeous, salmon-orange color shade.

Technically, i.e. according to the Royal Horticultural Color Charts, its color is Azalea pink (618-618/2), shaded light brickred (016/1), deep Delft rose in the throat, running out lighter towards the centre.

Everything about this Amaryllis is robust and "acy", rendering it a stylish giant amongst our Amaryllis varieties. 2 Strong scapes, 23" tall, each with 4 large, open, slightly flat, eight-to-nine inch blooms.

Within some years more varieties of the same type of Amaryllis will join this impressive newcomer, which is likely to claim its place in any Amaryllis-lover's collection.

Ludwig's Goliath (late)

442

The largest-flowering Amaryllis amongst the scarlets. This novelty, which we have already put to the test for some consecutive years, is of a brilliant red color.

Two 24-26" scapes bear each four 10-11" blooms of the rather flat and slightly loose type; its deep, dark red color is accentuated in the throat.

Ludwig's Dazzler (half late)

439

A magnificent addition to our Amaryllis collection, which we consider to be one of our best whites.

The beautiful, wide opened calyxes are so dazzlingly white and so perfectly shaped, that its appearance cannot but impress the onlooker.

The 4 eight to eight-and-a-half inch blooms are flat, but sufficiently deep, and almost perfectly round, standing elegantly on their stems. Two scapes to a bulb.

This Amaryllis is a fine access to our collection, a promising variety, which is to win the hearts of the Amaryllis lovers in future.

Ludwig's It (half late)

467

A very large-flowered novelty, which is to make its appearance for the third time this season.

Its blooms, 10" diameter, are of a dark bloodred color (darker than 820), its throat being a dark currant red (821).

The large flowers are well-shaped, rather flat and stand proudly on their two strong scapes, which are 26-30" tall. A great appearance in the new assortment.

Limited stock

Ludwig's Masterpiece (half late)

440

Dark Dutch Vermilion of a pure self-color with a dark, deep, glossy throat. A very prepossessing appearance of a flawless shape, perfectly round, flat and somewhat bearded.

2 Strong scapes, 28-30" tall, each with 4-5 very shapely, seven-and-a-half to eight inch blooms.

This variety is splendid and harmonious in its entirety, and warmly recommended.

Ludwig's Scarlet (early)

441

A magnificent dark red (820), strongly accentuated in the throat.

The very special shape creates a strong and manly impression.

The 4 seven-and-a-half to eight inch blooms stand proudly on robust scapes. The inner petals are slightly bearded, making for full blooms. Four blooms flower generally on a 25" scape at the same time; often, however, the two scapes bear each four flowers in full bloom simultaneously, so that we warmly recommend this wealthy variety.

Lucky Strike (half late)

Gorgeous flowers of a solid oriental red (819) with a darker oxen-bloodred throat and of a fine round semi-trumpet shape, the inner petals being slightly bearded; mostly two 22-24" scapes with each 3-4 blooms standing extremely gracefully on their stems.

Lucky Strike is an extremely beautiful variety. Needless to say that we specially recommend this outstanding novelty.

Margaret Rose (half late)

444

A fine shrimp red (616/3) (Pink striped) with upper petals with a suggestion of a Mandarin red shade (17/1), the lower petals being of a pure Begonia rose color and the throat of a light mandarin red.

The soft rose stamens render the blooms all the more effective, whereas the broad petals make for a robust and strong shape. The calyxes of 8-9" diameter are flat and round, standing, four in all, with elegant and graceful pride on the two 26-28" scapes.

We need hardly recommend this perfect variety.

Maria Goretti (half late)

445

The beautiful white calyxes are slightly fringed, giving a special cachet to this variety, which is very free-flowering 2-3 Scares with always at least 4 eight inch calyxes to a scape, a strong grower with a promising future.

Miss Margaret Truman (half late)

This is the one of the favorites of the rose varieties.

A splendid color matching most with Porcelain rose (620) with a Camellia rose reflection (622), Camellia rose stamens and a dark rose throat.

2 Scares, 26-28" tall, each with 4 seven-and-a-half to eight inch blooms of an unsurpassable beauty, of a faultless shape, round to a nicety, with a perfect depth in the throat. The bloom makes a never-to-be-forgotten impression, and its special color cannot be replaced by any other Amaryllis. This excellent variety may not be missing in any fine collection of Amaryllis.

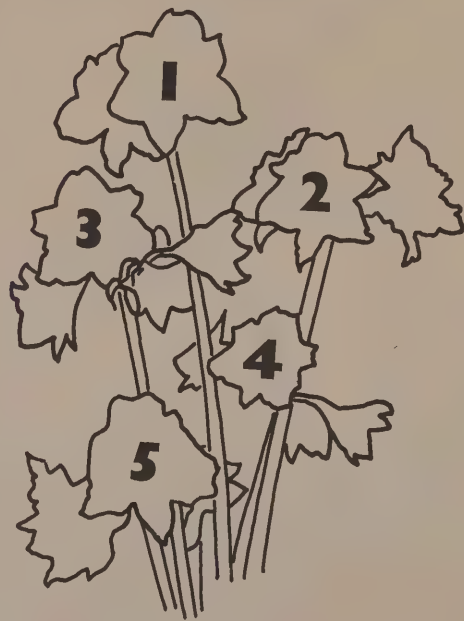

Mothersday (early)

447

A peculiar color, matching with mandarin red (17) (salmonred). The lower petals are faintly striped, the throat being a dark red and the blooms having a somewhat violet reflection near the centre. Its shape is flat and round.

- 1 PICTURE (gracilis) (half late) 471
- 2 PIXIE (gracilis) (early) 560
- 3 FIRE FLY (gracilis) (early) 469
- 4 VOODOO (gracilis) (early) 561
- 5 LITTLE SWEETHEART (gracilis) (early) 460
(see page 25)

2 Scares, 30" tall, each with 3-4 eight-and-a-half to nine inch, somewhat bearded blooms.

A strong Amaryllis and a successful seller.

Nivalis (early)

448

A pure white variety with a faint green in the throat, particularly wellshaped, rather flat and lasting flowers, opening greenish, but changing into pure white; when in full bloom.

An Amaryllis in which there is a certain charm on account of its graceful flower shape and the elegantly proud way in which the blooms stand on their stems.

2-3 Scares, 22-24" tall, with 3-4 eight inch blooms.

Peacefulness (early)

449

A particularly well-shaped variety with large, almost round blooms. The color matches with something between blood-red (320) and Oriental red (819) suffused with a carmine red glow.

A refined beauty breathing rest and peacefulness because of the soundness and perfection of its shape, and the true-ness of its color.

2 Long scapes, 28-30" tall, each with 3-4 eight inch blooms. One of our best varieties.

Picotée (half late)

Some of our customers have now made the acquaintance of the peculiar Amaryllis Picotée.

Through the time-devouring vegetative channel we have succeeded in producing some excellent varieties and are in a position to offer them in a modest way.

They are forerunners, however, of even better varieties, which are to make their appearance in future, but will keep you waiting for another few years as a result of their ticklish propagation. What we have on offer just now, is also specially beautiful, graceful and elegant and their quality will meet the ever-increasing demand for Picotée for the time being.

We feel confident that our customers will not rave less about the Picotée than about our well-known named varieties. Picotée is of a rather loose shape, its petals being slightly twisted resulting in a peculiar grace and elegance.

Its color is pure white, sometimes vaguely speckled with red dots; the petals are contoured or framed by a very narrow, clearly marked red edge. The throat is light applegreen with an occasional rosy red bottom.

The elegant loose shape of the attractive Amaryllis makes for an ideal and fantastic color contrast.

Two or three scapes, 20-24" tall, bear each four or sometimes five blooms of 9-10" diameter.

Picotée, the peculiar novelty, is meant for a great future.

Limited stock

Pink Favorite (half late)

450

Fine Camellia rose (622) is the color of this exceptional Amaryllis. The tips of the petals are a shade lighter rose (622/2), imparting a special freshness to the flowers.

Towards the centre of the flowers the color gets darker rose. The stamens are rose as well.

2 Scapes, 28-30" tall, each with 3-4 particularly large flowers, i.e. 8½-9" (and often even 10" diameter).

The calyx has a depth of 3" to 3½", but the flower is yet sufficiently flat, due to its extraordinary size.

This variety needs must be appreciated by any Amaryllis-fan.

Pink Perfection (half late)

451

This very free-flowering Amaryllis with its perfect shape has a fresh rose opal (022) color, whereas the tips of the petals are a shade lighter (carmine 21/2), the throat being a dark carmine rose.

Two scapes, 24-28" tall, which generally flower simultaneously, bear each 4 eight inch, very shapely, flat and elegant blooms. Often there is a third scape, bearing another four blooms.

Needless to say that we specially recommend this gorgeous variety.

Pinksterflower (early)

452

Beautiful Azalea pink (618) with a slightly Poppy red reflection and applegreen in the throat changing into Camellia rose.

The petals have all a filmy white edge and a fine, flat shape. 2-3 Scapes, 25-27" tall, each with 4-5 seven-and-a-half to eight inch blooms.

This utterly splendid type of Amaryllis we specially recommend.

Prima Donna (half late)

541

This novelty has an extraordinarily attractive rosy color (Begonia rose 619) with a reflection of Azalea pink on the inner petals.

A color combination of two colors, only slightly differing, contrasting, however, in a refined way, the two colors being a perfect match.

The deep throat, which is of a darker rosyred color shade, is in full harmony with this play of colors, the dark rose stamens accentuating its perfection.

Its is indeed a perfect beauty worthy of the name of "Prima Donna". The ideal flowershape is not too round, but elegant and graceful.

2 Scapes, 25" to 28" tall, each with 4 eight inch blooms, the depth of the calyxes being 3½"

We would suggest to grow the variety in broad daylight to prevent the scapes from getting too tall.

Salmon Joy (half late)

455

Soft mandarin red (17/1) (salmon orange) with a somewhat darker glow and lighter faint streak running into the throat.

The stamens are of a slightly livelier color tending to a light red.

2 Scapes, 30" tall, each with 3-4 magnificent eight to eight-and-a-half inch blooms, which are of the flat type, slightly bearded, standing elegantly on their stems.

A particularly beautiful variety, which has always been in brisk demand scoring more and more success on account of its extraordinarily fine flowershape.

Shakespeare (early)

456

Glowing Orient Red (deeper than 819).

According to the Royal Horticultural Color Charts this color shade cannot be described.

The glow and warmth it breathes is so intense, so extraordinarily beautiful that it defies every description.

The throat is also glowing, but much darker and has a fine depth.

The stamens are a light vermilion red.

Splendid shape, 2 scapes, 25-27" tall, with 4 eight inch, rather long blooms.

One of the most beautiful varieties we can offer in this color shade.

LUDWIG'S ACE

(see page 12)

Silver Lining (very late)

458

A particularly beautiful addition to our named Amaryllis collection, which novelty may be compared with our Five Star General, though Silver Lining is more outspokenly of the striped type.

Each scape bears 4-5 large flat flowers (9-10") of a red color with a white star, white stamens and a dark red ring in the very throat. The petal edges are white with red veins and the upper petals are slightly bearded.

A strong grower, flowering later, however, than most of the other varieties, though waiting for the breath-taking beauty of its belated blooms will be amply rewarded.

Siren (half late)

459

A peculiar salmon rose color, slightly violet shaded, with a somewhat lighter streak in the centre of the petals; a darker throat and rosy red stamens.

Four finely closed buds to a scape develop into magnificent, gorgeous 8-9" blooms, two scapes to a bulb.

This variety is bound to entice many an Amaryllis-lover into its power by its charm as did the mermaid in ancient mythology.

Spring Dream (half late)

542

Splendid Delftrose (020/1) is the color of this novelty, which we particularly recommend, being the culminating point of the Amaryllis Season.

Every Amaryllis-lover will fall under the spell of this charming variety with its peculiar rosy color of a warm tone, its refined shape, its dark rosyred glossy throat running out into narrow veins to the petal tops and its beautiful stamens, deeper colored towards the lower ends, shading into lighter rose towards the middle.

2 Scapes, 25" tall, each with 4 seven-to-eight inch blooms of a perfect shape, the depth of the calyxes being 3½". We expect Spring Dream to be an extraordinarily valuable access to our ever-increasing color collection of Amaryllis.

Symphony (half late)

557

The color of this novelty is a solid Delft Rose, deepening in the throat.

For connoisseurs that know Diamond, the novelty will mean a great improvement upon the older variety.

The shape of the flowers (four on each of the two 24/26" scapes) is round to a nicety and the diameter of the flowers is eight to eight-and-a-half inches, whereas the petals are 3-3½" long.

We do not doubt but that the novelty will soon be popular with any genuine Amaryllis lover.

Traffic Stop (late)

468

This access to our Amaryllis collection has a clear capsicum red color (715) with a slightly darker throat.

Its blooms, 8" diameter, are nicely-shaped, round and well-closed. 4 blooms stand slightly uplifted on each of the two rather tall (24-26") scapes, which makes it a particularly fine plant.

The depth of the calyxes is 3 inches.

This novelty is bound to be highly valued for its brilliant color and its excellent qualities.

White Favorite (late)

558

A gorgeous pure white novelty with a somewhat greenish throat.

Four flowers, 8" diameter, on each of the two 24/26" scapes. The petals are abt 3".

The flower shape is round to a nicety, but the excellent variety takes its time to come into full bloom.

White Giant (half late)

460

A pure glistening white variety with good, substanded, well-opened flowers. When just opening, the color of the flowers is not yet entirely pure white, but after some days the white will be intensified and consequently immaculate. The petals are namely a shade thicker than is normally the case.

2-3 Scapes, 22-24" tall, with 3-4 seven-and-a-half to eight inch blooms with magnificent leaves which are mostly a dark blue-green during florescence, lending them a certain, peculiar fascinating charm.

Winter Joy (early)

461

A gorgeous, solid vermilion red variety, which is particularly free-flowering with its large, deep calyxes. The throat is a dark vermilion, whereas the petals end in a slightly lighter red. A bright fresh color, outstanding in the collection of our redshaded hybrids.

Two robust 26-28" scapes bear each four 8-9" blooms. A magnificent variety, the "coming" red Amaryllis, which we recommend without any reserve.

Wyndham Hayward (half late)

This Amaryllis is a particularly beautiful Amaryllis Hybrid, worthy of ranking amongst the best in any Amaryllis collection. The extremely well-shaped flower of a magnificent dark oriental-red (819) is one of the best varieties we offer this season. The throat is a glossy dark bloodred, contrasting nicely with the slightly lighter red stamens. The flower is fairly flat but not exaggeratedly so, and having its desirable depth, rendering the whole very attractive. Generally two scapes, 28-30" tall, with 4 eight-and-a-half to nine inch blooms, a strong Amaryllis with a gracefulness, which level not every Amaryllis variety comes up to. In gratitude to Mr. Wyndham Hayward,

Winter Park (Florida), who contributed a lot towards popularizing Amaryllis, in general and our strain in particular and who has grown and examined nearly any species and variety of Amaryllis in his Lakemont Gardens, we have called this Amaryllis Beauty after him.

439 LUDWIG'S DAZZLER (see page 12)

Amaryllis Gracilis

After many years of intentional and experimental crosses we have managed to offer you six named varieties of this fine small-flowered Gracilis. They are the varieties: Fire Fly, Little Sweetheart, Picture, Pixie, Pamela and Voodoo. Amaryllis Gracilis is very free-flowering, and at the same time very early, it takes up less room, but is decidedly no less attractive than the large-flowered Hippeastrum.

No comparison should be made between the two strains, but Gracilis should be merely considered as a class by itself, a class nevertheless, which has its own special charm and is particularly suitable for small floral decorations and flowerworks.

The small and shapely florets are strong cutflowers, for which very reason they specially lend themselves for fine flowerwork.

For those who use Amaryllis as a garden border plant, Gracilis is pre-eminently suited to be planted in front of the border.

Gracilis comes easier and earlier (abt a week) into bloom than Hippeastrum.

In a living-room Gracilis will certainly take its place, side by side with Hippeastrum; there is hardly any bulbous plant so suited for the purpose.

We hope that many customers will give Gracilis a modest trial (stocks are still limited) and inform us of their findings and experiences, whatever they may be.

Fire Fly (Gracilis) (early)

469

Clear Capsicum red (715) with a darker throat. The petals are slightly pointed, lending the pretty flowers a certain smartness. The blooms are 4" diameter, the depth of the calyxes is 2½". Two or three scapes, each bearing four to six blooms.

Altogether this excellent Gracilis variety makes a splendid decorative plant, once it has fully developed its beauty.

Little Sweetheart (Gracilis) (early)

470

The color of this small-flowered novelty is salmon-like red with a soft green-white throat, running out into the petals, giving it a starlike impression, the star being outlined by darker red streaks. Two or three scapes with each four or five shapely blooms of 4" diameter and 2" deep.

A very fine, graceful and free-flowering potplant, a Gracilis Variety worthy of your attention.

Pamela (Gracilis) (very early)

559

Capsicum red (715) with a Uranium green star in the centre, the stamens being lighter red and a very light green towards the throat.

The shape of the petals is pointed, tall and elegantly loose, reminiscent of an orchid.

Two or three 20" scapes bear each five to six 3" blossoms.

Picture (Gracilis) (half late)

Glowing oriental red (819) with a white star and a white throat (a color combination as in Five Star General).

Two or three scapes to a bulb, with each four blooms of abt 4" diameter, but deeper than the two previous Gracilis varieties, viz. abt 3". A crisp Gracilis variety, an eye-catcher, which is not likely to escape being noticed.

Pixie (Gracilis) (early)

560

Orange colored with a lighter heart (Dutch Vermilion 717), the stamens being light red, whereas the throat is somewhat greenish

The shape of the petals is triangular and pointed.

There are five and sometimes even six flowers of 2-2½" diameter on each of the two or three 20-22" scapes.

We highly recommend this free-flowering Gracilis novelty.

Voodoo (Gracilis) (early)

561

Scarlet colored with a light green heart shading into white stripes in the shape of a star, whereas the throat is slightly green with darker scarlet; it is trumpet shaped and the petals are ideally closed.

There are two or three 16" scapes with each four to six 3-3½" blossoms.

For your kind attention we offer you the six named Gracilis varieties at a total

Amaryllis Sprekelia Formosissima

For those that are interested in all sorts of Amaryllis species we offer this article.

Its color is bloodred (820) with a whitish streak emanating from the throat.

The stamens are also bloodred and the throat is a shade lighter red.

The flowershape is exotic (orchid-shaped), two pairs of each three, long, pointed and narrow petals.

The diameter of the flower is 5", the depth of the calyx 2½".

The scape is from 10-12" tall and bears only one flower, which may be used for corsages or be left to embellish the garden, for it is no cutflower. Their leaves generally shoot up after floescence.

This Amaryllis species should be left in the soil and be covered with some straw, leaves, etc. in wintertime to protect it from frost, for it hails from Brazil and Mexico and is not winter-hard.

The longer it is left in the soil, the better this Amaryllis species will bloom.

Parcels Containing a choice collection of named Hybrids

For the convenience of our clients, and especially of our new customers we have listed 5 collections of named Amaryllis Hybrids this season to facilitate the choice for those who are less familiar with our varieties.

In these choice collections we have specially listed the highpriced varieties, slightly reducing the prices, however, for such a collection.

You may rest assured that we most carefully composed these collections and that you will receive a collection of great diversity, both as to color and shape.

We reserve the right, however, to slightly modify the varieties of the choice-collections, if necessary.

Cultural Directions for Amaryllis

The Amaryllis is one of the finest bulbous plants, displaying its wealth of beautiful and shapely flowers in winter and early spring.

The culture of fair-sized bulbs to blooms is not so difficult, and may be achieved in any duly heated greenhouse, conservatory, sunparlor or glazed verandah.

Hints in General

Use fair-sized bulbs to obtain good results, preferably bulbs of at least 10"/up in circumferenc (all our named varieties are of the 10"/up size or larger). They will flower, if properly treated, six to eight weeks after planting (compare preface). In the Southern States of the U.S.A. Amaryllis are usually grown in the open. Please, bear in mind that so-called maiden soil should be used, i.e. a plot of ground in which no Amaryllis, and generally no other bulbs or bulbous plants have been grown befor.

How are Amateurs to grow Amaryllis

The Hippeastrum Amaryllis is a bulbous plant originating from Tropical America. The flowering period extends from the middle of December till the end of April, sometimes even later, depending on the planting date.

After three or more years' culture the bulbs are of a good flowering size and quality (the varieties on offer in this list are at least of the 26 cm (10") size).

When the flowerbud appears, the bulb is put in a pot, which should not be too big. Keep a distance of abt. 1 inch between bulb and pot. Fill the pot to 2/5 inch below the brim of the pot with light, permeable earth, mixed with pure sand, and put the bulb for one half in this earth.

In the beginning the bulbs may be placed on a radiator or on a mantelpiece, but as soon as the flowerbud is entirely out, it is necessary to freely admit the daylight, keeping the bottom heat all the time. Do not leave the plant on the window-sill behind the curtains during the night.

It is better to remove the plant from windows that are too cold and to put it somewhere in a better temperature.

Stick to an average degree of humidity, but increase the quantity of water in proportion to the growth, taking precious good care at the same time not to exaggerate the watering.

Turn the pot regularly to thwart the inclination of the plant towards the light. When the scape (stem) has sufficiently developed and the flowerbud begins to open, it is advisable to support the scape (flowerstem).

If one wants the flowers to last in their perfect beauty, one should put them, when in full bloom, in a cooler place, which should, however, never be too cold.

After florescence the leaves must be kept intact to give the bulb strength again to develop other flowers.

By the latter half of May, dig in the pots in a garden, in such a way that the bulb is covered, preferably in a shaded spot.

Water regularly with liquid manure and leave the plant outside till September. Pot it again and let the leaves wither and fade away without watering. Should the foliage not be dead by the beginning of November, cut it off entirely.

Put the potted bulb in a temperate spot until the new flowerbud appears and pot the bulb anew in fresh earth.

The Amaryllis is one of the best decorative domestic plants and can easily be cultivated from the stage of a bulb to that of a flowering plant of an incomparable beauty.

We multiply the Amaryllis vegetatively, i.e. by cutting up the motherbulbs and in this way we obtain more bulbs of exactly the same variety, color shade and flower shape.

All the named varieties of this catalog are fair-sized bulbs, which is for you a guarantee for a successful growth and flowering.

How to grow Amaryllis

1. Amaryllis are mostly potted. Do not take too small pots; there should be a space of soil of abt. one inch between the bulbs and the pot itself.
Cut off the roots till they are abt. 5 inches long. Put the bulb so that one half is above the surface of the level of the earth in the pot, so as to give the roots enough space and soil.
2. Use good nutritious leaf-mould with some old decomposed dairy manure or horse-dung and press it together, but not too closely.
3. Dig the pots in a warm bench or bed in airy, porous earth, and cover the bulbs till abt. 2/5 inch of the bulbs is still visible. Distance from pot to pot should be abt. 8 inches.
4. See to sufficient heating in the benches or beds: 70 to 80 degrees Fahrenheit. This may be achieved by means of heatingtubes under the benches or beds or of a 6'' layer of horse-dung, which should be closely pressed.
5. See to it that the green- or hothouse is sufficiently heated, 70 to 80 degrees Fahrenheit, and let the daylight freely penetrate.
6. Water moderately during the first stage of growth, warming-up of the water is recommended; on further development of the plant, administer more water.
7. When the stems grow longer, support them with the aid of a bit of stick or a pin.
8. When the flowers burst open, the plants should be put in a cooler spot, its temperature, however, being not lower than 60 degrees Fahrenheit. In this way they will keep their beauty longer.
9. After the plant has flowered, cut off the stems (scapes), keep the plants in the green- or hothouse, and administer regularly some liquid manure during the further growth. Do not give any more water after August 15th and take the bulbs from the benches or beds in early October, cut off the foliage and preserve the bulbs at 62 degrees Fahrenheit. When the flowerbud is visible again, the same treatment should be repeated, starting again with number 1.

Ludwig Strain Amaryllis Seeds

As spring in Holland is not always as sunny as we should wish it to be, the Amaryllis Seeds often mature but slowly in our hothouses. Not but that this affects the quality or the germinating power of the seeds. On the contrary, we guarantee that at least 95 % of our seeds will germinate, if treated properly. To ensure the success of the germination we always include in every seed-parcel we despatch, our cultural directions. We have, however, decided to postpone the date of delivery from May to June, so that our costumers know beforehand that the reeds ordered will not come to hand until June.

The Amaryllis seeds are gathered from our best named varieties in existence. We draw your attention to the fact, however, that Amaryllis varieties cannot be grown "true to name" from seeds; this is only possible through vegetative propagation.

Moreover self-pollination generally leads to degeneration, so that the best named varieties are always crossed with others, generally in the same color shade.
